--- LEE HIGH SCHOOL · ARLINGTON, VA.

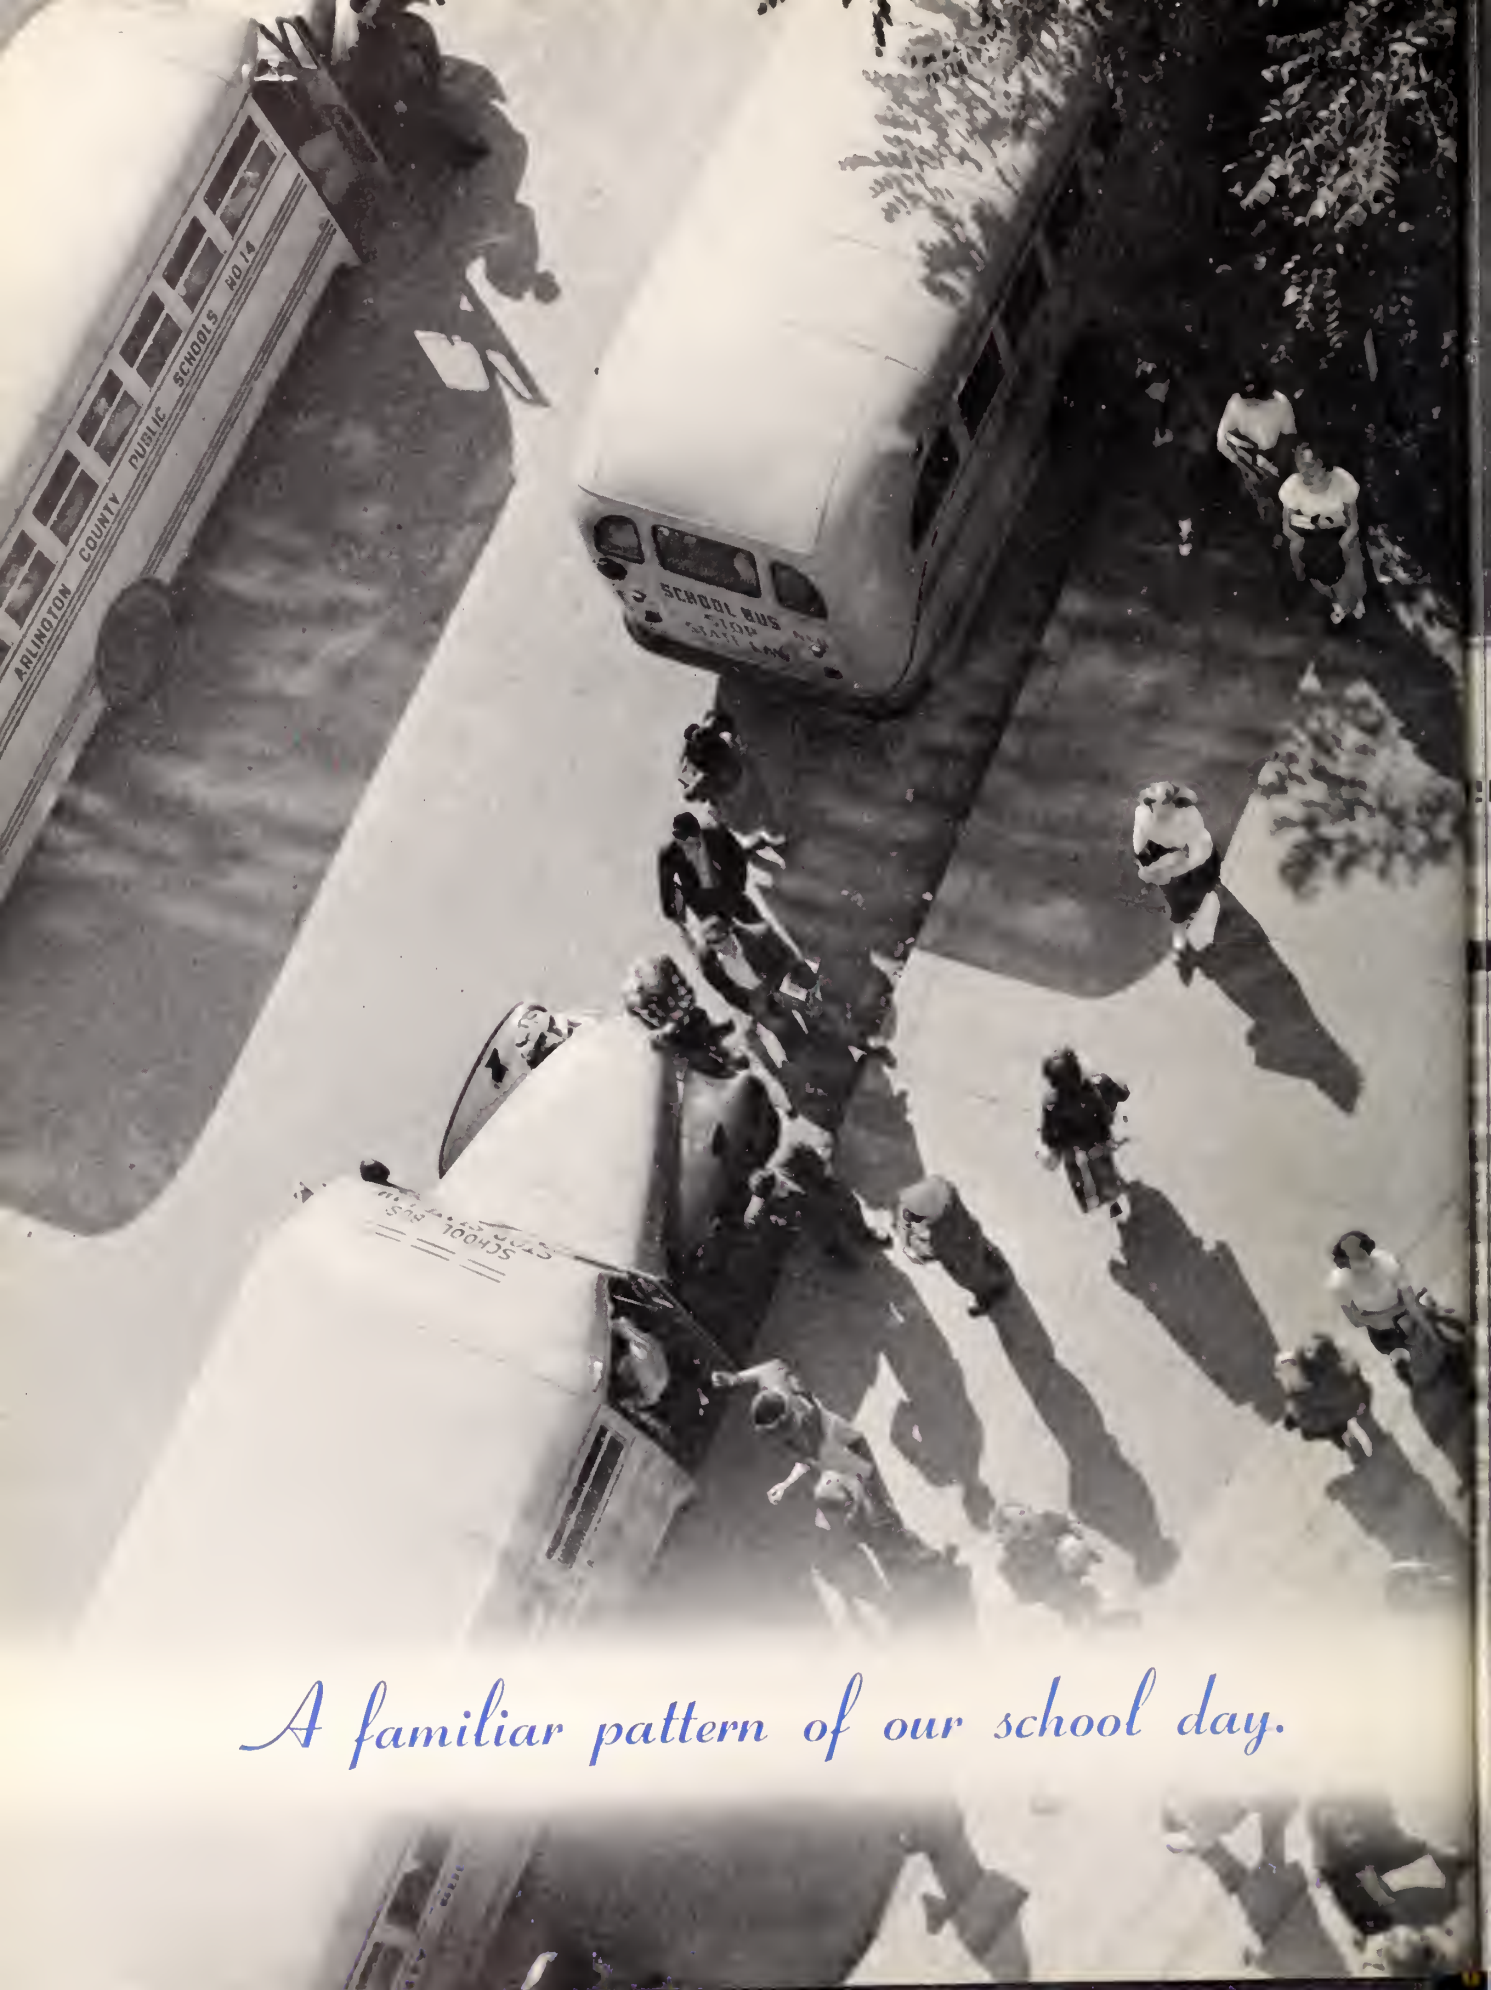

Only Yesterday . . .

this was my life within and without the walls of this my school . . . where we worked, played, and dreamed together, where the fleeting grin and quick hello, the comfortable feeling of a lesson prepared, the tense gasp for victory as seconds ticked away . . . spelled Washington-Lee to me. This was a part of me and I was a part of it.

A salute to our progressive school board

Under the capable leadership of Mr. Early, the school system in Arlington has become one of which the entire state can be proud. The three assistant superintendents, Mr. Walsh, Dr. Hass, and Mr. Braun, have helped to promote many new ideas and have continued improvements.

"The best of everything." That's what the Arlington County School Board is working night and day to obtain for W-L. The assembly which they presented early in the year gave W-Lites a preview of new facilities which will relieve crowded conditions and offer additional opportunities.

Members of the Board are conscientious people who are devoting their time toward giving better school facilities to Arlington County.

A welcome to our new principals

MR. T. EDWARD RUTTER
Principal

Washington-Lee students welcome Mr. T. Edward Rutter as their new principal. Mr. Rutter came to us from Caldwell, New Jersey, where he had been principal of Grover Cleveland High School.

He was graduated from Franklin and Marshall College and later received his Master's Degree from Teacher's College, Columbia University, where he is also completing his Doctorate.

By his efficiency, enthusiasm, and understanding, he has helped us to maintain our high standards and has given us a new breadth of perspective.

DR. HAROLD WILSON
Associate Principal

Dr. Wilson is Curriculum Consultant and Director of Instruction at Washington-Lee. In this capacity he observes all classes, offering suggestions and helpful comments for improvement and change. He is a graduate of George Washington University, where he received a Doctor's Degree in education, and he later lectured there in that subject. Dr. Wilson has, by his avid interest in school, shown that education is not only his vocation but his avocation as well.

OFFICE STAFF

MR. FRISCHMANN, School Treasurer; MRS. DEAN, MRS. WATKINS, MRS. MANVILLE

Ever ready with answers to puzzling questions, our friendly and efficient office staff is invaluable in the compiling and maintaining of files and records.

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL, DEAN OF GIRLS

Mrs. Finlay is counselor of girls and assistant to the principal. She is Coordinator of Secondary School Teachers for George Washington University in which capacity she arranges for student teachers to observe and teach in everyday classrooms.

MRS. HELEN K. FINLAY
Assistant Principal, Dean of Girls

ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL, DEAN OF BOYS

As assistant principal Mr. Mahoney not only counsels the boys of the school but he is also the faculty sponsor of athletics. As such, Mr. Mahoney has won the respect of the faculty and the student body.

MR. JAMES D. MAHONEY

expressing ourselves effectively . . .

An enlarged and broadened English department is now the boast of Washington-Lee.

Besides the required four year English course, creative writing, journalism and dramatic arts are now offered.

Special remedial speech work is given to those who have shown need for it following a testing program.

For the first time, core classes, with eleventh grade American literature and history combined under one teacher for a two hour period, are a part of the curriculum.

sharpening our wits . . .

In addition to the usual math courses, an accelerated algebra course, offering a year's work in one semester, enables interested pupils to continue with solid geometry, trigonometry, and college algebra.

For the first time, there is being offered a class whose sole purpose is to assist pupils in fundamental math practices.

The department has also undertaken a program of standardized testing, in order to compare constantly the achievements of our students with those of other schools.

Within the borders of the Social Science Department, nine subjects are taught by fifteen teachers. This year a full time psychology instructor was added to the staff. Recently, courses in Latin American history, economic geography and world geography have been added to the curriculum. Second semester a unit on drivers' training, stressing safety aspects, has been included in the problems curriculum. The classes have also taken field trips to Williamsburg, Congress, and the United Nations.

challenging our imaginations . . .

For those who wish to sharpen their wits in the sciences, classes including biology, physics, chemistry, and, recently added, descriptive physics are offered. Field trips have been taken to the Delcarlin Filtration Plant and the Alexandria Sulfuric Acid Plant.

The department offers necessary training to those students who wish to compete for the National Science Talent Research Scholarship and for recognition in the State Science Contest.

An avid interest in foreign languages has been created by our expanding Language Department. Classes in French, Spanish, and Latin are offered. Also Greek and Roman culture classes enable students to understand more clearly the growth and bases of present day languages and cultures.

With the help of Georgetown University's School of Languages, the department plans to secure audio aids to improve students' intonation and inflection.

developing our business skills . . .

Aside from training students in commercial courses, the Commercial Department places many students after graduation with firms of the Metropolitan area. While in school many students also act as secretaries for some faculty members.

Since Arlington is one of the fastest growing retail communities, the Distributive Education Department program has increased in importance. Students are trained in consumer buying and retailing. Close cooperation with the area's merchants enables senior students to work part-time every week day.

Increased opportunities for expression are offered in our fine arts, commercial arts and arts and crafts classes. New equipment has given occasion for work in firing and glazing, linoleum block printing, and marionette making. Arts and crafts students work in leather, metal, plastic, and wood. Fine arts students, who have often produced work of prize-winning merit, gain practical experience by illustrating for school publications. Other school functions are publicized by the commercial art classes.

finding the way to a man's heart . . .

To the girls taking home economics, the yellow frame and red brick houses have become not only classrooms, but homes that must be kept clean and tidy. Here we learn and practice the basic principles of housekeeping.

Cooking, sewing, housekeeping, home nursing, a Christmas project and marriage relations offer us a well rounded course which gives us a better idea of the many duties that go with making and keeping a good house and a happy home.

Mechanical drawing, auto-mechanics, metal shop, print shop, and wood shop are the various courses offered in the vocational department. New cars are provided for the drivers' training course.

As practical experience for their chosen careers, students repair automobiles, make and repair some school equipment, and print all programs and tickets used by the school. Enthusiastic campaigners have often called upon the services of the shop for publicity material.

FACULTY

The Guidance Department has the seemingly endless task of scheduling 2250 pupils. Six teachers devote all, or part of their time to guidance. They advise students as to those classes necessary or desirable for future careers. This year the senior sponsor helped seniors select colleges best suited for them. A major project is career day where leaders in the various fields and professions are invited to visit the school and speak to interested students.

guiding us today for tomorrow . . .

protecting our well-being . . .

Through the School Health Department, physical examinations, hearing and vision tests and arrangements for other procedures necessary to determine the health of a pupil are provided on a referral basis.

Miss Ritter, our school nurse, works with pupils, parents, school personnel and community agencies to investigate any symptoms of ill health and to arrange for treatment.

building sound bodies . . .

Physical education or "gym" offers to 10th graders a chance to participate in various sports and to acquire the habits of good sportsmanship. Competing teams are formed in each class, giving everyone an opportunity to learn by playing hockey, volleyball, football, basketball, track and softball.

Gym does not consist of games only, for each class is usually begun with gymnastics. Lectures and movies are also given on health and hygiene.

developing our musical background . . .

The Music Department is composed not only of classes for members of the choir, band, and orchestra, but also offers a music appreciation class to develop a higher understanding of the world's music. To those with more than a passing interest, a course in theory and history is offered. Touching many more students are the vocal and instrumental divisions preparing those interested for membership in the school's musical groups.

Dave Breger, famous cartoonist, speaks at the Lexington banquet.

Proudly we donned our green and white class ribbons and looked forward to a busy life during our last year at W-L. The usual lively discussions about senior privileges were held. We all worked hard to make "Excursion" a hit.

As winter crept in we cavorted at a Mexican party. Last minute cramming paid off, for after exams we were relieved to still be seniors.

This year we were the guests rather than the hosts at the Junior-Senior Prom. We laughed at Class Night. A touch of sentiment ruled at Baccalaureate Service. In the last issue of Crossed Sabres, we left our precious possessions to future seniors. A glorious prom evening at the Shoreham was followed by a day at the beach basking in the sun. As a result many seniors had sunburns for graduation. June 14 completed one phase of our lives; it was the beginning of another.

In the spring, our young man's fancy turns to thoughts of—term papers.

This is the story of '50 -'51, as we W-Lites lived it.

Proudly displaying our new red and tan class ribbons, we Juniors realized we were one step nearer our goal — the much coveted diploma. With the theme of "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" our class party on December 16 made an indelible impression. Following tradition, the Junior-Senior basketball game took place on March 2, and in the spring the Pennsylvania Dutch comedy, "Papa is All" was presented. Our big moment was the Junior-Senior Prom, given by the Juniors for the Seniors, climaxing the year.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS. P. Carter, Treasurer; C. Montgomery, President; W. Denbo, Secretary; A. Geiger, Vice-President.

The bewildered Sophomores, so lost in our halls in September, have by now learned their way around, and, like Sophomores everywhere, are neck-deep in activities — everything from the chess club, to indoor track, to a rollicking carnival for a class party.

With Mrs. Moore, their sponsor and guidance counselor, at the helm, this, the largest Sophomore Class in W-L's history, is looking forward to its junior year.

Our interests find expression in varied activities

Student Government delivers our contributions to the Christmos Spirit.

The rap of the gavel, the call to order, the minutes of the previous meeting—so club meetings began throughout the building. Even the most avid “joiner” would be satisfied by the number of organizations at W-L. All clubs cooperated on projects for the Thanksgiving Day Game and for the school clean-up campaign.

With the ring of the 12:30 bell, gobbling sandwiches on the way, we W-Lites this year scurried from classes to important club meetings. Due to the half-day session, all clubs met after school.

All of us had the opportunity to join a club. Whether our interests lay in foreign countries or in art, there was a club to suit us. Many of us waited breathlessly to know whether we had been chosen for a favored Hi-Y or Tri-Y.

united by the efforts of the Inter-Club Council

Although only in its third year of existence, the W-L Inter-Club Council is playing an important role in our school activities. Formed to further cooperation between the clubs and to create school spirit, we are doing our part to make W-L the best high school.

The year was begun by working out a club schedule for the part time day. At first, this seemed an impossible task, but the Council was equal to the job.

We coordinated the projects and efforts of all school organizations to create greater spirit and add to the festivities of the G. W. game.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT OFFICERS

Seated: B. Silver, Secretary. Standing: J. Payne, Vice-President; S. Eberdt, President; H. Ware, Treasurer.

After a vigorous campaign last spring, the newly elected Student Government officers realized the difficult tasks that lay before them and settled down to a year of hard work.

Opening days found us busy distributing student handbooks, which we had prepared during the summer, and orienting the Sophomores.

Then as football season approached we prepared the football programs which were sold before each game.

For the first time at Washington-Lee the Student Government began a Student Council Cabinet consisting of the homeroom presidents. Through the Cabinet we hope to reach every student.

Among the projects of the Student Government this year was the revision of the point system, the student-wide clean-up campaign, and assistance to the two German exchange students.

Character! Scholarship! Leadership! Service! These are the qualities for which the members of Kalagethos, W-L's chapter of the National Honor Society, are chosen.

Kalagethos operates as an honorary service club to the school and this year assisted in College Night, placed the names of the teachers over the classroom doors, and managed a milk line in the cafeteria. In addition to these services they performed many others unknown to the school in general.

However, Kalagethos isn't all work and no play. One of the social highlights of the Kalagethos year is the reunion of past and present members held every year during the Christmas holidays.

The fundamental purpose of the Honor Society is the development of citizenship, and for that reason no other honor conferred by the school excels membership in this Society.

Southern press banquet is sponsored by Quill and Scroll.

Wearing the honored pin of the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists, the Maud Orndorff Chapter of Quill and Scroll began early to accomplish constructive projects.

In the fall, plans were made for our annual poetry contest. The Quill and Scroll magazine received by all the members, provided useful ideas for the BLUE AND GRAY, the Penman, and Crossed Sabres.

To create good will among the local high schools, joint meetings were held with chapters from Alexandria and Falls Church. Several guest speakers participated at the meetings, among these being Mr. Dillon Graham of the Associated Press.

As April came, the days of the Southern Inter-scholastic Press Convention drew near. We had the honor of sponsoring the annual Quill and Scroll banquet which opens the convention each year.

Enthusiastic talent competes for Elos awards.

In an effort to further literary proficiency, Elos sponsors a short story contest each year. The Elos play stimulates interest in drama and provides experience in acting, directing, and back stage mechanics.

As a special project, we have compiled a scrapbook for the new Stratford Junior High School, depicting its history and personnel.

Ushering at the Barter Theatre productions, contributing to the G. W. game activities, and sponsoring two assemblies in which new members were introduced, completed our year.

Elos is composed of superior students in speech, writing, and dramatic art.

One of the highlights of the Awards Assembly is the presentation of the Elos Placques, awarded for excellence in dramatic arts, the best actor and actress appearing in a three-act school play, to the outstanding girl and boy athletes with high scholarship and good citizenship, to the writers of the best article in Crossed Sabres, and to the Elos short story winner.

Procon Club, W-L's debate group, may be found any Wednesday afternoon rocking the foundations of Room 218 with a lively argument over world peace or the sewer bond issue.

Our purpose is to obtain a more thorough understanding of the fundamentals of debate and discussion.

Acting as a source of many of W-L's original compositions, the Creative Writing Club dreams up anti-climaxes and proceeds to build a coherent story in both directions. For those whose literary interest lies completely in appreciation and enjoyment, we hope to provide a foundation for some of tomorrow's worthy literature.

Young librarians become skilled in bookcraft.

Miss Currier and Miss Joyner work for an efficient library.

For those who have a true interest in literature and in the priceless books that bring us works of all ages, the Library Club is a source of enjoyment. It is the aim of the club to continue to improve every means of bringing pleasure and knowledge, through our library, to the entire student body.

We prepare books for circulation, check books in and out, and keep them in fine repair. Supervising study in the periodical room is another of our functions.

The club, composed of the assistant student librarians, assisted with Book Week activities and last fall sponsored a tea for the faculty in the library.

Hoping to help the world toward a more peaceable state, the International Club had clothes-packing parties to prepare articles we had collected through the school and neighborhood for shipment to needy families in Germany. We also sent CARE packages at Christmas to other European countries. Foreign movies and dinners at foreign restaurants delighted us. Some of us corresponded with foreign students; the club received a Christmas card from "our family" in Germany. We had many interesting speakers from different countries throughout the year.

In our second year of existence we designed and obtained our own pin, gold with a globe enameled on it in black and "International" inscribed above.

The aim of our Distributors Club, the largest of its kind in the state, is to stimulate interest in retailing and to develop citizenship and leadership. Each day forty-four members leave school early to work in the surrounding community.

At our meetings we see films on subjects related to our work or entertain a speaker.

We sponsor the annual fashion show and Valentine Dance. We also send two delegates to the state conference in Richmond which sponsors the Distributors Club speech and poster contests. The highlight of our year, however, is the Employer-Employee banquet. It is at this occasion that the employees and employers have a chance to become acquainted with each other's interests.

"L'Arc en Ciel" enjoys the culture of La Belle France.

L'Arc En Ciel—"The Rainbow"—is the name which was chosen three years ago by one of W-L's most popular clubs, the French club. And like the colors of a rainbow, the club's activities are many and varied. Seeking a better understanding of French life and culture, the club has entertained several guest speakers, seen movies, held a seven-course dinner, and carried on correspondence with many French students.

A highlight of our year was our visit to the French Embassy.

Service Club serves.

Have you ever seen a squeaky projection table being pushed hurriedly down the hall? The boy pushing it is a member of the Service Club and he was probably on his way to show a movie in one of the classrooms—a main function of the Service Club. Doing exactly what its name implies, the Service Club acts as a behind-the-scenes agency, performing many unrecognized services to the school.

Newly organized this year, this energetic group of shutterbugs has become one of the most active clubs in the school. We take field trips, hold discussions, attend lectures, and prepare a pictorial record for the school. Operating without proper equipment this year, we are working to secure a photo laboratory here in the school which will serve both the club and the school photography staff. For some, photography is merely a hobby, for others, a profession.

As we polish past glories.

The care of our trophies and the trophy cases has been one of Alpha Hi-Y's outstanding projects this year. New pledges earned their membership privileges by keeping the cups shining. The removal of decorations after all the school dances has also been one of our responsibilities.

Seasonal projects have included food baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving and Christmas time, and our "Beat G. W." float for the Thanksgiving Day parade.

The social side of our chapter has emphasized the Hi-Y Tri-Y dance in the fall and several outings and hikes in the spring.

Our basketball team participated in the Y. M. C. A. Christmas tourney and played the Beta Hi-Y team for school honors.

Sending magazines to our servicemen in Korea, collecting food for the Country Store, and participating in the Inter-Club Council's clean-up campaign, are only a few of Beta's service projects.

Social highlights began with the annual Hi-Y Tri-Y dance. We helped build the Hi-Y Tri-Y float for the Thanksgiving Day game parade to G. W., participating in the annual Hi-Y basketball tournament of the Metropolitan Area and took part in the Tri-State Older Boys Y Conference.

Holidays in the air.

"To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian living" is the purpose of Tri-Hi-Y. Alpha's most heartwarming project was the collecting of food, clothing and money for a family recently bereft of a home. We also gave such articles at Thanksgiving and Christmas to a needy family.

In spirit with the added confusion of running on a crowded schedule, Beta began the year by compiling a chart of school clubs, their respective sponsors, times, and meeting places. We commenced rapidly on a full schedule, featuring a bake sale, and helping with the clean-up campaign. In November, with a background of flickering candlelight, the newest members made their solemn pledges.

Many of us volunteered to become counselors for the Gra-Y's, the elementary equivalent to Tri-Y. Beta was represented at the sale of Tuberculosis stamps, gave toys for the "Doll House" and a basket for an unfortunate family. Next came the annual Alpha-Beta basketball game. We finished the year by offering our services to the Red Cross in their work for civilian defense.

Cokes and chips at our slumber(?) party.

"Pure thoughts, pure words, and pure actions," the motto of Tri-Y, has been our guiding principle throughout the year. Community service is one of Tri-Y's highest aims.

Providing a needy family with a quart of milk each day and sending them a Thanksgiving Day basket were Gamma's most rewarding community projects.

Our school activities included operating the record player for music in the cafeteria before Christmas and decorating trees for the Christmas assemblies. With the other Tri-Y's and Hi-Y's we made a float for the Thanksgiving Day parade, sponsored an all-school dance, and played in a city-wide basketball tournament.

Enjoyable memories of our slumber party and Mother-Daughter tea will long remain with us.

citizens in the world of today and tomorrow.

Delta's discussion topic of the year "Problems of Today's Teenager," has given us opportunity for interesting debate and entertaining speakers.

At Hallowe'en we made more than fifty paper hats for a party at an old men's home. The girls filled a Christmas basket for a local underprivileged family. Continuing a Christmas tradition of the club, we sponsored a door-decoration contest. More than forty Easter baskets were filled to be distributed among children in the county.

We offered our services in the sale of Tuberculosis seals and donated several afternoons to working in the Red Cross office. In the fall, the girls, armed with rakes and clippers, attacked the football field for a job of cleaning up papers and weeds.

Programs include talks and discussions on the international situation, parent-child relationships, and the more frivolous but important teenage topics—the latest dance steps, beauty hints, personality problems.

Lounge nights are frequently held for dancing, playing games, and roasting marshmallows before an open fire. Among our outdoor activities are "bikehikes," hayrides, and box socials.

Those searching for Bible study and fellowship with Christian young people will find the object of their search in the Bible Club. Approximately forty W-L students meet together every Wednesday for directed Bible study and discussions of better living principles.

As a special project of the club we took care of a family at Christmas, giving them a tree, clothes, food and toys. We also sent money and clothing to the widowed family of a missionary. We ushered at an interdenominational religious program at Constitution Hall as well.

The highlight of our social year was our Christmas party. We went caroling and afterwards visited the family which we were helping at Christmas.

"A spare—no, a strike!" . . . a high moment for Bowlers

Gab session between frames.

A strike! A spare! The click of bowling balls in the rack! The wonderful sound of pins falling . . . Thus the two leagues of the W-L Bowling Club spent Monday afternoons in the Clarendon Bowling Center. The club provides an opportunity for a popular sport, encourages sociability and teaches fair play. This year we bowled in the National Tournament of the American Junior Bowling Congress.

At the end of the year we had a banquet with the money we had collected during the year. Trophies were awarded to the top teams and individual bowlers in the leagues. The W-L team became national champions of the American Junior Bowling Congress.

"Popcorn! Candy!" This call, uttered by members of the Monogram Club, is a familiar phrase at all sports activities. By selling food, pennants, and hats, we have raised funds to purchase all girls' athletic equipment. The Monogram Club represents outstanding girls athletes from all the school teams.

Reorganization of the W-L Club was undertaken this year with success. The club, which only admits varsity letter-holders, set up a new system for earning letters and distinguished between major and minor sports at W-L. As an end to a full year, we held a banquet for graduating members.

Main interest—hats for pep?

Our publications record student life and thoughts.

The power of the presses.

THE BLUE AND GRAY and the Penman engage in extensive advertising campaigns to encourage the students to subscribe.

However, Crossed Sabres is subscribed to by every student in the school as a part of their class dues.

All three publications sponsor several contests to secure original material and photographs.

Washington-Lee's three publications, THE BLUE AND GRAY, the Crossed Sabres, and the Penman publish the best of student journalistic endeavors. All three hold high honors: the annual won a Medalist rating in the Columbia Press Association, while the magazine and newspaper both attained second-place standings in the judging held by the Southern Interscholastic Press Association for '49-'50.

Those interested in creative writing as well as reportorial writing, student photographers and artists, and those with a flair for business and finance are all given opportunity to display their talents.

Burning the midnight oil.

The Blue and Gray mirrors every passing phase

Our own Washington-Lee annual, THE BLUE AND GRAY, is the result of much hard work. The preparation of the annual requires the cooperation of many departments: editorial, photography, art, typing, and business. Heading this staff are the co-editors and the sponsors.

As the school year begins, the staff unites to create a yearbook. Scheduling and cropping pictures, writing copy and captions, drawing layouts, checking and rechecking every phase of the book has kept our staff of twenty-five busy.

Sponsoring a bonfire rally before one of our major football games and presenting an assembly were also a part of our busy year.

Soliciting, scheduling, coaxing, and creating, we hope we have given the Washington-Lee students a vivid picture of our school year as it has come and gone.

At every school activity the photographers were seen dashing madly back and forth, taking informal pictures. With their cameras and flashbulbs they have preserved for us a permanent record of our life this year.

The typists played no small part in producing the annual for they were constantly busy typing finished copy and performing many secretarial duties.

Posters throughout the hall and announcements over the loudspeaker urged everyone to order his 1951 BLUE AND GRAY.

Because of our hardworking circulation staff and their endless campaigning, we were able to exceed our quota this year, selling more annuals than ever before.

Canvassing the county, the advertising staff sold ads to the merchants of our community. Their convincing sales talks resulted in the sale of more ads than in the past. These ads greatly helped us meet our increased budget.

Mr. Carpenter, Sponsor; J. Pinkard, Editor-in-Chief.

The editors had their anxious moments: What to do with the blank space on the third page? Would the picture of the track meet be developed for the deadline? Would the printers deliver the paper on time? Then, too, the sports editor was often seen dashing to the printer with his late copy following a Friday night football game.

During the warm August days the members of the staff of Crossed Sabres could be seen dashing madly through the halls of W-L, trying to snare news for their first issue to appear the second day of school. This year the staff followed a chart of special type headlines similar to that used by metropolitan dailies. Fifteen issues appeared this year including the specials: "Beat G. W." Christmas, Junior, Senior, and Journalism issues.

"Coming soon! Watch for the Penman!" These familiar phrases are directing you to our literary magazine. We, the students, publish the best of stories, poetry, and essays created by our classmates. Although constructive criticism is always given, we encourage everyone to try his wings at creative writing. Therein lies our greatest service. The aim of the Penman is to serve the students by providing entertainment through enjoyable reading and as an outlet for creative ability.

and provides us with literary entertainment.

The editorial staff of the Penman meets every day with the sponsor to review material submitted to them. Their important job includes the preparation for the preliminary printing, the proof reading of galley sheets, the making of the dummy, and the preparation for the final printing.

An enlarged art staff has worked to give the subscribers a different cover design for each issue to fit the season.

The Penman business staff has worked against a large deficit this year. The staff members have contacted local merchants to sell advertising space in the magazine, have made posters, and have sold subscriptions. Sponsoring the Sock Dance early in the term, this group immediately earned itself a good name. Later in the year, the Penman sponsored the Arlingteen Revue, a talent show which featured many of the school's top entertainers, and the Election Ball, to introduce the new student government candidates.

Rills of music lead onward toward new and higher goals.

Tuning the tympani.

A hundred-voiced choir, a chorus, the band, and the orchestra offer varied musical activities to students at Washington-Lee. The orchestra plays incidental music at all assemblies. Our choir, particularly honored this year, was asked to perform with the National Symphony Orchestra at Constitution Hall. Specialized ensembles have represented our school at various educational and civic functions. Entertaining the Northern Division of the All-State Band Clinic was one of the highlights of our musical year.

W-L's first all-school band made its debut this year. Growing by leaps and bounds, at present, we have 51 members.

Our outstanding project this year was entertaining the Northern Division of All-State Band Clinic in February. Over 500 boys and girls from Northern Virginia tried out for the all-state concert and workshop bands. Of these, a highly select group of 90 was chosen.

Other activities of the band are parading in the Armed Forces and Memorial Day ceremonies and at the Annual Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester. Assemblies, football games, and bonfires are brightened by the school band. With the band goes the color and spirit of Washington-Lee.

The fellowship of hard work creates a lasting bond.

No one forgets the thrill of hurrying to room 322 to check the bulletin board to find himself a member of the Washington-Lee Choir. We eagerly await the start of rehearsals, for we know that, although many hours of hard work lie before us, the satisfaction of a job well done is well worth the time.

Those informal moments—singing sessions at the Hot Shoppe, the parties with alumni, the “comfortable” bus trips—all create lasting memories.

"What so proudly we hailed . . ." begins morning assembly.

An added attraction at all of our assemblies this year was the school orchestra. Students have entered and left assemblies to the sound of strings and woodwinds.

Putting into effect techniques learned during long hours of rehearsal, we participated at the county-wide Spring Music Festival, and some of our members attended the All-State String Festival at Richmond. During the year we gave programs for Fairfax High School and Stratford Junior High School.

Our annual Spring Recital climaxed the year.

Powder and paint create a make-believe world.

Feor Foreshadows the climax of "Excursion."

In producing a play many things take place unseen by the audience. Among the tasks performed before and during a play are the setting up and handling of the lights, the lashing of the flats, the endless changing of props and costumes, and the hoarse whisper of the prompter giving cues.

Once again W-L's advocates of greasepaint and glittering lights have produced an outstanding year. Interest in dramatic arts has hit a new high. Each class has its own dramatics club in which production and stage techniques are learned. For the first time, a course in drama is offered.

Hours of rehearsal, and inexhaustible enthusiasm created polished productions of our three major plays, the Senior Play, the Elos Play, and the Junior Play.

Dan the mask of make-believe.

Footlights illumine an "Excursion" of whimsy and fantasy

Places . . . curtain going up!

The little minute before the big moment.

The Senior Play, "Excursion," by Victor Wolfson, differed from previous plays in that it largely depended upon good characterization. For weeks before opening night, posters advertising the play greeted the students. Cast members practiced cues and developed a case of first night jitters. Would the play succeed? Then came opening night! The overture, composed by our Jack Krance, began. Lights dimmed and the curtain opened. Emotional tension lessened as the play progressed. Bells rang, lights flashed, and people entered on cue. As the curtain was drawn for the last time, the Seniors knew they had once more produced a smash hit.

Elos draws warm applause with "The Hasty Heart"

Once again Elos scored a hit with their presentation of John Patrick's "The Hasty Heart," the story of a bitter young Scot. The tireless direction of Mr. Campbell and the hard work of the cast were well rewarded. Mishaps and humorous events delighted both cast and director. Such experiences as Dick Zollner and Gil Buchanan falling through the cots and Ann Pettit scouring the area for regulation pajamas were all in a day's work for the cast and crew.

"I've had enough pity, thankye"

War has brought characters symbolizing six of the Allied nations to a British Army Hospital in Burma. The play tells of a man's rebellion against pity and the efforts of his friends to comfort him.

War, human emotions, and a jungle hospital.

"Papa Is All" . . . "gives the audience over!"

"Wait Papa, you touch ogoin Momo ond I'll kill you with my own hands dead."

"I says to Mister I says"

The Pennsylvania Dutch comedy "Papa is All" was presented by the Junior Class under the guidance of the drama department. The ingenious plot along with the unusual dialect provided an evening of lively entertainment. Before the evening was over, those ignorant of Pennsylvania Dutch discovered that the title means Papa is all in, or in other words, dead. The story revolves around Papa, who is absolute tyrant in his family. Surprises are in store when mother, daughter and son rebel against his tyranny.

Back-stage life is filled with hard work and many moments of nervous anxiety. However, the good times and experience gained will long be treasured.

Point 'n powder, youth 'n cge

"Don't break character", a clue from Director Campbell.

"To be or not to be!" That is not the question with the Junior Drama Club, for we started out this year with fifty members. Our main objective is to act in a play. Giving a play each week at our meetings is our solution to this problem.

Eager to learn more about what goes on behind the scenes of a big production, we whipped out our powder, paint, hammer, and nails and went to work. To the library we went to delve among the books and to come up with some new ideas. After practicing on our fellow members we now feel that we are experts in the field of show business.

Director gives pointers on proposing.

We proudly present our Cadet Corps

The Flag passes by.

We are trained in fields other than marching. As well as instruction in firing a rifle, physical training and first aid, we have training films and lectures. All these things combine to make our life as a cadet an exciting one.

Hats off! We, the Washington-Lee Cadet Corps, are passing by. As we pass in review before the judges, the climax of many hours spent together in perfection of drill is reached and we are rewarded for all the work put forth this year.

During the year, we participated in several parades, the most important being at the annual Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester. Here we have in recent years won a first and three second place prizes while competing against military and other public high schools. Washington-Lee can be proud that its Cadet Corps is the only public high school corps on record ever to have won first place.

The mark of rank.

commanded by efficient officers and staffs.

The administration of the Cadet Corps is composed of three staffs: Regimental, First Battalion, and Second Battalion. Heading these staffs are the Regimental commander and the Battalion commanders. Included in the staffs are the posts of Regimental adjutant and executive officer, the supply officer, Second Battalion executive officer, and the range sergeants. They plan the Cadet program and set up the training schedule which is carried out by the company officers.

Early fall arrives and brings with it many recruits to the Cadet Corps. Their training begins with foot manual, keeping in step, keeping dress and learning the commands. Next comes the process of handling a rifle: learning to hold, use and care for it properly. Later, lectures are given on first aid, military discipline and courtesy, and military terms.

It isn't all work and no play, for we have many social activities. Long will be remembered the bleak chilly day of the Officers Club—Chevrons Club football game when the officers just won by scoring a touchdown in the dying moments of the game.

In the spring each company really buckles down and puts the finishing touches on its drill for the oncoming prize company drill.

"Company halt!" shouts the Captain as she brings another day of drilling to a close. Excitement prevails, for the annual competitive drill with George Washington High School is not far off. This drill is especially important since it gives us a chance to win over our close rivals, G. W.

Fort Hill 7-19, Sept. 15. The Generals season was off to a shaky start as they dropped their first game to a strong Fort Hill team. The game was closer than the score indicated with Fort Hill making three long drives for tallies in the second, third and fourth quarters.

McKinley Tech 4-0, Sept. 22. This was a thriller played in a sea of mud. Christian and Brooks made the two end zone tackles to put the Generals in the winning column.

Roanoke 14-13, Oct. 6. The Generals scored a major upset in defeating the Magicians of Jefferson High. This was Jefferson's first home defeat in three years.

Portsmouth 7-19, Oct. 13. W-L dropped its second game in four starts to an underrated Woodrow Wilson eleven. Eberdt's pass to Brooks proved to be the Generals' only score.

with moderate success before finally losing to G-W.

Eastern 25-0, Oct. 20. A highly rated Eastern eleven, later District Champions, fell victim to the versatile attack of the Generals. The climax came with Eberdt's 52 yard dash for a touchdown.

St. John's 0-20, Oct. 27. The Generals evened their record by losing to a strong eleven from St. John's. The game was fairly even but the Johnnies scored three times on long pass plays.

Thomas Jefferson 21-7, Nov. 3. The Generals forged back into the winning column by downing a very good Richmond eleven. Herrlein ran 90 yards to lead the team to its fourth victory.

Mt. Vernon 25-14, Nov. 10. A Mt. Vernon T. D. gave the majors a seven to six lead at half time. Three last half touchdowns gave a win-hungry W-L eleven its fifth victory in eight starts. Eberdt, Brooks and Brady led the scoring parade.

Warwick 6-0, Nov. 17. In a game which was supposedly a breather, the Farmers of Warwick High almost pulled a major upset. The contest was marked by bruising line play.

The first leg of a new "Old Oaken Bucket" was won by the Presidents of G. W. High in downing our Generals 19-0. After last year's giant battle, which G. W. won 13-12, a new bucket was installed.

The first half was a battle of the lines and was fairly even. The Presidents' big forward wall wore down our Generals and the G. W. eleven started rolling. Herrlein was sidetracked with a bad ankle and was unable to play much.

W-L basketball history. Heath and McFadden led the scorers.

In the second year of his reign, Coach John Rothrock again turned out an excellent quintet which gave W-L one of the best seasons on record. A team composed primarily of Seniors sparked the Generals. Mentor Rothrock continued his method of concentrating on the basic principles of the game and on defense. The Generals were probably the best defensive team in the area and won several games because of this. Kenny Jones and big Jim McFadden led the Generals to their many victories. Rothrock, Curran, Eberdt, and Heath were the other game starters.

Victories over T. J. of Richmond, Western High, and Mt. Vernon showed the mettle of the quintet. Close losses to Tech High, G. W., and the University of Virginia freshmen are indicative of the hard schedule played.

Curran and Heath chose the ball along with Goskins of St. Johns.

Jones goes up for one of his many scores of the season.

J. V. BASKETBALL TEAM

The littlest Generals basketball team downed many good teams in gaining their excellent 14-2 record. George Washington, St. John's, Western, and Mt. Vernon were a few of the teams defeated during the season. The only losses came at the hands of Eastern and Thomas Jefferson of Richmond. In a return game with Eastern the littlest Generals got revenge by soundly beating them. High scorer was Jim Hill with 119 points.

TENNIS TEAM

The racquet men, adding another chapter to W-L's string of spring sports, clicked over area opponents.

Tee men completed second season with much better record.

GOLF TEAM

Our men of the green and tee were again successful in downing their opponents of the links. Again coached by Mr. Frischmann, the second golf team in W-L's history upheld the school's reputation as being successful in all sports.

RIFLE TEAM

The 1951 team, again led and coached by Ashton Poplin, faced a very difficult schedule. In addition to G. W. High, the Navy and Army Plebes, G. W. U. and Maryland U. Freshmen are a few of the superior teams scheduled.

With dash men Stu McCowan and Mac Byrd missing from the lineup, the 1951 Indoor Track Team experienced an unsuccessful season. Jay Ricks and Don Hobbs paced the squad. In a dual meet with Woodbury Forest the Generals came out on the short end of 45-32 score. The trackmen placed fifth in the state meet. After winning the North Carolina Invitational Meet last year, the team was favored to repeat, but was unable to place in a single event.

Outdoor Track enjoyed a more successful season. This team was also not up to the par of the 1950 squad. Big Jim McFadden joined the team at this Jay Ricks took state honors for the shotput; Jim McFadden captured the high jump. The team placed ninth in the state meet.

The Cross-Country Team had four races but only won one. In two meets with G. W. the two-milers finished last and were third in a meet with Eastern and G. W. The Generals beat Kendle Prep School for their only win.

For the past two years W-L has had the best nine in the area, winning the state championship in 1949 and claiming it in 1950. No state tourney was held last year, but the Generals had the right to claim the championship with a record of nineteen wins and one loss during the regular season.

With four returning lettermen to pace the 1951 crew, the oarsmen looked forward to winning their third successive eastern and national championships. Last year's crew went undefeated after dropping an opening race to the Plebes of Annapolis. The varsity and junior varsity won the Stotesbury regatta, emblematic of eastern supremacy and then went to Princeton where the varsity won the National Championship. This victory marked the first time any school had won the championship two years in a row.

The 1951 schedule included races with the Navy plebes, Yale freshmen, Columbia freshmen and G. W. High School. The Stotesbury and National regattas bring out the schools from the Midwest and North. Coach Charlie Butt again coached the crew.

Buddy Virts and Eddy Cox comprised the 1950 double, winning the eastern championship.

A series of heartbreaking games marked the 1950-51 girls' hockey season. The field girls played two high schools twice and the Washington Jr. Hockey Club. All the games except the first one were lost by just one point. The team was handicapped by having to travel to a field away from school. The season wound up with an area championship which was played at W-L, Fairfax, Falls Church, Mt. Vernon, and W-L played. Two all-stars teams were picked with W-L placing Dot Baker and Bobby Hetzer.

A short but victorious record marked the J. V. Girls Basketball season. Many practices were held in preparation for their short season of just two games. The only two games of the year were played with the girls of Fairfax High. The first game was unofficial and our players won the second 26-15. More games are expected next year as more schools organize girls junior varsity teams. The J. V.'s are preparing themselves for varsity play next year. If enough schools form teams a league play can be had.

GIRLS' RIFLE TEAM

W-L's feminine sharpshooters gave the boys' team some anxious moments several times during the '51 season. Once, they even beat our male sharpshooters. The W-L Annie Oakleys found greater success in their second year of competition. The team was coached by several members of the boys' team. In two meets the boys could only manage to win one from the girls.

SOFTBALL TEAM

Spring sports for the girls opened with softball practice. Although the contests were not as fast as the baseball games, they gave the fans just as many exciting moments. The girls showed unusual skill and several fans were heard to say, "Why isn't she on the boys' team?" June Clees, Dot Baker, and Bobby Hetzer led the girls through the 1951 season.

V. cheerleaders match the varsity in keeping the spirit of the fans alive. The two groups often combine to give special cheers for important games. Even in defeat their cheering gives heart to rooters and teams. Through the year their spirit undoubtedly was the cause of more than one victory.

These W-L students! Always purchasing cars — and from the best places in town, too. Roy Garner, Marilyn Brown and Bettye Davis all agree that BROWN PONTIAC is definitely the place to buy a car. The choice is large — (carest thou for a convertible?) — the prices are moderate and the owners of BROWN PONTIAC are anxious to please you. So if you just happen to have a week's allowance burning a hole in your pocket and desire to be rid of it — buy your car at BROWN PONTIAC.

Big business man Rusty Corbin throws his best salesman's line to Shirley Culp and Shelly Bailey, who seem duly impressed. However, they don't need anyone to tell them that they are surrounded by quality goods and quick easy service. At J. C. PENNEY AND CO. all smart shoppers know they can obtain a large variety of low-priced goods. The surroundings are pleasant and the location is easy to reach. Follow these W-Lites' lead and shop at PENNEY'S.

One of the most serious problems confronting a high school graduate is the question of where to go to college — the girls in this picture, who are former W-L students, have solved that problem quite successfully. They attend STRAYER COLLEGE, where they are receiving the education they want amid pleasant surroundings and expert teaching. STRAYER'S gives you complete secretarial and accountancy training. As these girls have discovered, STRAYER COLLEGE is the place to go.

There's nothing like depositing a cool million to make one feel that perhaps life isn't so bitter after all. However, one doubts that Angelo Caffo is depositing a cool million — but, if she were, doubtless she would go to the FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN OF ARLINGTON. They specialize in taking the utmost care of one's money (a rather important item these days) and making the process a pleasant one.

Ah! These well dressed W-L boys! It's a well-known fact that boys are more particular in their choice of clothing than girls (although at times it isn't apparent). That's why we find Roy Clark, a W-L student, purchasing his clothes at O'CONNOR'S HABERDASHERY, INC., where meticulous service is taken for granted. One finds quality and quantity at low prices in abundance at O'CONNOR'S. Visit O'CONNOR'S for YOUR clothing needs.

"Oh for the life of the bus driver. All day long watching the sights go by." It is almost as easy as that, if you are riding on the WASH., VA. AND MD. COACH CO.'s buses. At any rate it seems that way to the average rider, like John Lambert and Lloyd Burlingame, who really appreciate the quick transportation, pleasant service and low rates offered by the WASH., VA. AND MD. COACH CO. Walking was good in granddad's day but the boys like this modern way.

Here we see Donald La Prade and Gwynne Broaddus admiring the New 1951 Buick at the WINDRIDGE BUICK CO. These people are not interested in giving you a ride for your money but to put a Buick in your family.

Once you have ridden in this car you will never want any other kind. Its smart lines and good performance will help to convince you that the Buick is your car. Many people are learning that Smart Buyers Buy Buick at the WINDRIDGE BUICK CO.

"What, in heaven's name, could a girl be purchasing in a store that seems to be filled with rifles, mounted fish, basketballs and all sorts of absolutely male items?" The best way to find the answer is to go to YEATMAN'S HARDWARE, and discover for yourself the fine service and their complete line of goods other than sports equipment. In the heart of Clarendon, YEATMAN'S extends an open invitation to everyone to come in and let them serve you.

Doubtless, the amazing resemblance between human beings and fish (the continual opening and closing of the mouth), strikes Ann Pettit and Joe Zimmerman as does the fact that WALLY'S AQUARIUM is a fascinating place. Every kind, type and species of fish plus adorable little parakeets reside here and may be purchased for very reasonable sums.

Visit WALLY'S and pick out the fish that looks most like someone you know. (You'll find it—believe me.)

The 1951 BLUE AND GRAY wishes to extend its deepest gratitude to Mr. Stuckey and all his associates for their fine work and willing cooperation. Their work, as always, was of the highest caliber and was expertly done. Taking 1500 individual and countless group pictures is not an easy job. Clicking the shutter just begins Mr. Stuckey's work; after this comes the developing and the printing of the pictures; keeping all the negatives and pictures in order; making up extra orders for Christmas and printing all individual pictures within two weeks' time in January for the BLUE AND GRAY. All this was done with speed and thoughtful care.

We owe to them the completeness of our year, for without them we could not have had our annual.
